There are three members in the Meade county jail awaiting trial. Circuit Court began there last Monday.

There will be some very important work before the next Kentucky Legislature, and the people should choose their very best men for the position.

Ex-Senator Cleveland has recently come out in a letter in opposition to the free coinage of silver. A number of the prominent leaders in his party think he has thus injured his chances for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency in 1892.

From the trouble Mr. Delamater is having with bank accounts and lawsuits, it seems that he would have had no time to devote to Pennsylvania's interests even if he had been elected there. So what an imposition for the people might have suffered at the hands of Republican leaders.

An association has been formed in Washington to honor the memory of Gen. F. S. Pinney, who by his action in introducing women into various grades of government service, particularly the way for their continued employment, not only in government offices, but in many other places of business.

Mr. Anne Skillman has taken up a permanent residence at Garfield. An over-ride of business and an inclination to spend more or less of his time in company with the good-looking widow in the vicinity, has led him to his present place from the columns of the News for some time, but it is safe to add that he will here live and be happy.

All the candidates for Governor have expressed themselves upon the Salt-Treasury scheme. Mr. Clay thinks it is not an issue in the present campaign. Mr. Harlan says it is of much importance. Mr. Chaney says that "if the Salt-Treasury plan means the establishment of warehouses and the purchase of crops by the government, he is in favor of it. On the other hand, if it means the loaning out of money by the government at a low rate of interest, he is not." Col. Wat. Harlan says it is of much importance to stick to true Democratic principles, for it is in the triumph of these principles alone that he can hope to find safety. He is therefore opposed to the Salt-Treasury scheme. Hon. John Young Brown has all along declared that he was opposed to the measure.

Only fourteen more days and the Fifty-first Congress is a thing of the past. Certainly the country will breathe more easily. A review of its entire work shows nothing to be proud of, but it made one point, and that point was the retention in power of the Republican party. To this end all energy has been directed, and the millions of farmers and tradesmen who have been living and need legislative aid, look over the records in vain for the passage of a measure that would benefit them. The present Congress, notwithstanding that it made their cause seem hopeless. The people had with joy the adjournment of the Fifty-first Congress, and they will hail with greater joy the retirement of Republican administration to their hands.

We call the attention of the farmers of this county to the following features of the statement of T. K. Frymire, which appears in the correspondence columns of this issue: "The resolutions are original, and solely put forth by him, by himself, and endorsed by the County Assembly." As to the means by which the endorsement of the County Assembly was obtained, Frymire complacently says: "The other [against the resolutions] mentioned as not counted, was an oversight at the proper time, but that may all be dismissed and the resolutions stand upon their merits as a living exponent of the will and wishes of the different organizations." He arranges to show these "resolutions" which are "original and solely put forth by himself," the authority of being the "living exponent of the will and wishes of the different organizations," but says, "I care not whether they ever had been made by assembly or not, it is a matter for liberty and independence, not demanded everywhere." He constitutes himself a tribunal to proclaim what is "demanded everywhere," without saying whether he was sold out to proclaim in the name of an organization "has ever been inside of an assembly or not," and lightly remarks that the matter of counting votes cast against resolutions solely original with himself may all be "dismissed," and these resolutions of "the living exponent of the will and wishes of the different organizations." This, he says, "is a move for liberty and independence," liberty and independence from the party organizations because they are controlled by such men as Carlisle, Cleveland, Sherman and Ingalls. He cannot tolerate these men because they control their party organizations. He is taking a man who controls his organization; he would not do such a thing. He wants the farmers to hold a convention at Elizabethtown that will not be held at Elizabethtown, and he wants to go to Shepton, and see that the meeting is not controlled by any one else.

Why don't you know what the Democratic county committee intend upon the subject, but in making a nomination for the Legislature a county convention is preferable.

Thomas Cleveland's letter condemning the policy of the free coinage of silver, has created quite a buzz among the leaders of his party. Anyhow when the time comes all of them will stand by him for President.

The people of the South need not be expected to indulge in paroxysms of grief over the death of the old trader, William T. Sherman, who goes to his grave with the blood of thousands of brave and patriotic people upon his head. His reasonable contentment for the Federal Constitution, which he stood between him and his purpose to murder and plunder the Southern people, is shown forth in his letter to his brother, John Sherman, written in 1862: "Of course I approve of the Confiscation Act, and would be willing to revolutionize the government so as to amend that article of the Constitution, which forbids the forfeiture of land to the heirs. My full belief is that we must colonize the country de novo, beginning with Kentucky and Tennessee, and send about a million of our people at our own expense to the Ohio river, taking the farms and plantations of the rebels. Enemies must be killed or transported to some other country." These are the kind of fellows who set themselves up to call other people "rebels" and "traitors."

Two third party lists have not yet materialized in this country's politics, and from present indications the project is abandoned. Such a movement at present seems to be entirely necessary not practicable. The action of State Alliance meetings recommending a candidate for President in 1892, doesn't indicate a necessity for county unions to begin making nominations in county offices, yet there is doubtless in every county some unfortunate man who has an aching void in his heart that nothing but an office can fill. This void, perhaps, served both political parties in his time, and they have refused him the special remuneration he desires. His time he spends in the county jail, and he goes to younger politicians, and in the exigency he throws his lot tramp—any effort for the endorsement of a new party. It is a lesson long ago learned by the farmers that we don't think they will have to learn again. If a man is capable of filling an office, his party knows it, and then endorse him. They if they endorse him, they will support him. A new party can't make a new man by putting a new brand upon a political fossil.

The Sudden Death of Dr. W. B. Paynter. In the death of Dr. Walter B. Paynter, which occurred last Thursday, this community has lost a capable and conscientious practitioner. Dr. Paynter had been among us only about five months, but we had learned to appreciate his value as a citizen, a physician and a gentleman. He had been suffering for several years from attacks of a paralytic nature, caused from injuries received about eight years ago from a vicious horse. This trouble culminated in blood clot in the neck of the brain, and caused his death. Dr. Paynter was reared near Salem, in Washington county, Ind., and afterwards lived and practiced his profession in Vine Grove, Harlan county, Ky., from which place he removed to this city last September. He had been a practicing physician for fourteen years, and had built for himself an enviable reputation. About seven years ago, he married Miss Eliza Mooreman, daughter of S. L. Mooreman, and she with their two little children are left to mourn his loss.

TOBINSPOUT, IND. Miss New Adams, who has been visiting her sister in Canton, has returned home. Mr. Webb Taylor has purchased an organ; it arrived Tuesday. Miss Lettie Walden, of Newburg, Ind., arrived here Wednesday, and will remain several weeks the guest of Miss Eliza Frank at her home, Frank's Landing.

Judge Murray, Cloverport, was in the city Monday.

Mr. Ludwell Atkinson, Webster, was here last Monday.

Mrs. Hickey and Mrs. Lulu Bush are visiting in Louisville.

F. K. Rhodes, candidate for the Legislature, was in the city Monday.

Miss Maggie Dean is in the city last week visiting Miss Blanche Beard.

Mrs. G. J. Poley and Mrs. G. W. Beard were visiting in Long Lake last week.

Mr. Frank Hawkwell will leave Monday for a visit to Kirk City, Ohio county.

Messrs. L. A. Foss, Edgar Bennett and R. M. Jolly, Beweelyville, were in the city Monday.

John Wheeler will make application before the March County Court for license to sell liquor at Campbell. His application will be met with a resolute refusal to grant it.

Atley Johnson, who had an application before the County Court Monday, for a license to sell whisky at Hudsonville, withdrew it. The citizens of that place are unimpressed.

The Hamilton Hotel was opened to the public last Monday by Mr. Bela G. Tarpin under very favorable circumstances. Mr. Tarpin is well and favorably known throughout the county, and big run of custom is predicted for him. The Democratic County Committee met at the Court House Monday, and decided on Saturday before the third Monday in April. About three-fourths of the districts in the county were represented, and the feeling among the members present was decidedly in favor of a primary election over a mass convention.

From the talk gathered among the politicians that were here Monday, the Legislature here appears to be a little unsettled. The meeting of the County Committee was a surprise to many, as but few seemed to be apprised of a meeting at all, until the members from various sections of the county began coming in. A great many thought that there was no necessity for a call so early, and that it might be best to wait until the summer. However, the committee has been so far in advance of the county generally will be governed by them. A few members of the Alliance were here, and when the action of the Democratic County Committee was announced they disapproved it pretty strongly, and said further, that as the Democrats could not support any nominee of the primary, that they would have to leave the success of the party in the approaching struggle can be only a matter of conjecture. It is known that several members of the Alliance, who are in the majority would prefer to see a member of that order for the Legislature if they could get him, but as there is not likely to be one in the field they will stop and think before they repudiate "Old Democracy."

Tourists. Whether on pleasure bent or business, should take on every trip a bottle of Syrup of Figs, as it acts most pleasantly and effectually on the kidneys, liver and bowels, preventing fever, headache and other forms of sickness. For sale in 50c and $1.00 bottles by all leading druggists. RAYMOND, KY. R. H. Roberts is very low with consumption. Little Seth Aker died a few days ago and was interred at Walnut Grove. The raised list is $80.40 by actual count on the assessor's book and not over $100.00 as previously published. Thomas J. Triplett has a powder guard over one hundred years old. It was his great-grandfather's powder guard. The item about the assessor making a mistake in A. R. Fisher's list turns out to be no mistake as shown by blanks in his own hand-writing. Old Uncle Wash Suley, near Freedom, has lived to see the fifth generation in his family, all living within one mile of him. Can live here in the county or State? His wife is also living. Old Aunt Eliza Gresham, colored, is said to be, from the best information, over 125 years old. She says she saw Washington pass through Maryland with his troops. Ellis Stiff killed the bow eagle a few days ago. It measured six feet eight inches from tip of wing to tip of wing, and two inches from tip of bill to end of tail, and had taken two inches long. Capt. A. J. Gross raised the largest corn and wheat crop in the county. L. T. Roberts raised the largest crop. Virgil Norton raised the largest potato crop. J. G. Stephens raised the largest crop of corn. Elijah M. Norton raised the largest crop of corn. Mr. Lydian gave the largest lamb list, and the highest stock list. G. W. Beard gave the highest list of hogs.

Hon. G. W. Richardson and Perry Cumfitt, both candidates for the Legislature, addressed the people here Monday. Both are subject to the action of the Democratic party.

The trial of the writ of ad quod damnum on the premises of Mr. James H. Frymire, over which it is proposed to take a writ, is set for Friday next, at 10 o'clock, at the Court House in Harrettville. The jury, who were held last Thursday, the jury fixing the damages at $225. This is $50 more than he was offered by the County, and it remains to be determined as to whether or not the Court will establish the loss.

Our county is rapidly gaining a very unenviable reputation by its numerous prisoners recently. We have now three prisoners in jail charged with murder, and one other at large who has not yet been arrested. One peculiarity about this is that in the cases of the three who are in jail there are no witnesses to the killing, and the defense in each case is that it was done in self-defense.

Circuit Court convened Monday. Judge T. R. McKeith presiding. The Grand Jury is composed of the following gentlemen: James H. Bryant, foreman; J. M. Osborne, Ed. Atwell, Allen Young, B. W. Brown, N. B. Tobin, Wm. Ellerton, W. P. Price, J. B. Withers, E. Wimp, A. P. Lank, Henry Cheumley, P. M. Turner, W. R. Heavner, Jesse Henderson and Wm. Shewsbury. Owing to the numerous crimes committed in this county recently the Grand Jury will have a great deal of work to do during the present term of court. In the case of Commonwealth vs. W. W. Harris, the trial of John Brown, charged with the murder of George Daw, was called Tuesday.

Another killing took place in our county last Thursday. A. J. Reese, Jr., being killed by Eliza Warner. The two are farmers living near Brandenburg, and the trouble arose over a gate which had been left open the day before by Reese. There are no witnesses to the killing, and nothing is known in regard to it, except the statement of Warner's friends. He says that he and Reese had some work on Wednesday in regard to the gate having been left open, and that Reese then notified him to keep off his premises. That he was passing by on Thursday morning, but not on Reese's land, when Reese came to the gate, where he was attacked with an ax, hitting him twice on the arm and fracturing it. That he took out his knife and killed him. Reese then went to his home about 400 yards distant, and died in about two hours after reaching there. The wound which caused his death was inflicted on the right side, the knife having penetrated the lungs. Both of the parties are young men, but married. Reese leaves a wife and several children. Warner came in immediately after the difficulty and surrendered himself to the sheriff, waiting an examination trial, and is now in jail. He will probably have his trial at the present term of the Circuit Court. An inquest was held over the body of Reese on Friday morning by Judge Lawling, and the jury returned a verdict that Reese's death was caused from wounds inflicted by a knife in the hands of Eliza Warner.

GUSTON. No one humorously said that we know of. Mrs. Eliza Suley was on the sick list last week.

At present it seems as though we are not likely to have an early harvest this winter.

Our district school, taught by J. L. Simpson, closed last Friday, with general satisfaction. Mr. Simpson, we understand will teach a Spring school here, but of how many months duration we have not learned.

We met our jovial friend, Harry Bell, the other day for the first time since his arrival from Florida. Harry is the same pleasant fellow that he has always been. Any one desiring to see his name that he killed while in the orange cane, can do so by stopping into the store of Mr. F. M. Osborne.

We were sorry to hear that our old schoolmate and friend, E. H. Mitcham, had succumbed. Mr. Mitcham taught two terms in this district some six terms or eighteen years ago, and if there was a voice uttered against him as a teacher or otherwise, by pupil or patron, we are in ignorance of it. Mr. Mitcham was well known in this community and had a great many friends and acquaintances here.

The killing of John Rees by Eliza Warner, is one of the most sad occurrences that we have ever been called to chronicle since we have been serving the news. The statements that we have heard of the tragedy have been so diversified that we decline to give any, knowing that the Brandenburg correspondent will have a better opportunity of learning the true particulars.

Mr. Rees was a member of the Society of the Hill Slaying of the Farmers' and Laborers' Union, and was very appropriately buried by the members of that and other adjacent lodges, and on that occasion the fact was clearly demonstrated, that his grief-stricken wife and little boy of two and a half year, had the sympathy of the entire community.

We read a newspaper article the other day that once started us, and if it be true, it is enough to startle most any honest person. It stated that novels and other immoral literature, that was detrimental to the moral interests of the community, was distributed through the mails to the same at a cost of one cent per pound postage, while the postage on Bibles, religious tracts, and other all-American books, bound or unbound, was eight cents per pound, and that there was one firm in New York, with a capital of $200,000 engaged in this nefarious business, and that our Postmaster General said that they were losing $1,000,000 yearly on account of such existing affairs, and that there were bills before both the House and the Senate to remedy this evil and that these firms were represented there by their agents and experts ready to defeat any measure that might be presented to restrict or suppress it, and that those bills were likely to be quieted by the unwise people denominated their unwise. Reader, what do you think of it? Will you tell us what you think about it. The officers of a government who are not enough interested in the welfare of the people to remedy such evils as this, should be granted the free privilege of engaging in something besides holding office. I believe the time is not a hundred years distant (and I hope that I, with a great many other readers of the News, may live to see it) when there won't be some changes made in the way of engineering our government. DECEMBER.

On Christmas day, when Mrs. W. L. and all her family were at the house.

And played their game on the floor.

The surveyor and the clerk of the court.

And under the tree.

The Christmas tree, with its lights and boughs.

Outside the house the air was cold.

And the snow was falling.

The Christmas tree, with its lights and boughs.

And under the tree.

WAYS OF ENTERTAINING YOUR GUESTS WHICH ARE NOT COMMEMORATIVE.

It is very hard to invent a new thing that will help to make a dinner pass off well and make it remembered. If one has money enough and brains enough to do this, there are always many people who have more money and quite as generous an allowance of brains as the first named. They have done the thing before and done it to much better.

The gastronomic part of the dinner is not considered—this is a matter for the cook; but there is much more to a good dinner than food, although some people will deny this and call it otherwise. There is a great deal in making the dinner at ease with one another if they chance to be strangers, and in having her by substituting Little Neck cake for oysters. But it was done very cleverly the other night in this city where some bright young people of New York were to meet some as clever young people from two other cities.

When they seated themselves they found a large, square envelope at each table addressed to each of the guests and with mutual bows of the head

they opened them with some curiosity and found them with gradually increasing sizes.

Each note began identically as follows:

"My Dear Sir, or 'Dear Madam,' as the case was, 'This is to notify you that you are to be the guest of the man (or woman) on your right. His (or her) name is interested in you, and he (or she) is

THE DRESSED BEEF INDUSTRY.

Are Dressed Beef Men Tolerant on the Verge of Chastity?

The latest year of the business of Ar-
